

Sent:

Monday, September 8, 2008 10:53 PM

Subject:

Postcard

Hello from Show Low, AZ. Another travel day today, but with scenery. Started off along Rt 64 out of Raton. The pronghorns were all over.

We took 64 up to Eagle Nest and tried to take a picture of fog lifting off the lake. We didn't get the picture but we did find a prairie dog village. They barked and froze then barked and dove into their holes. Then they peeked out and barked. How disgustingly adorable.

But the best part of the day was over by 9 in the morning.

Next:

Next:

Next:

Next:

This was smoke coming from the hot tar being poured in the next lane. We waited so long here that we met the other people in line. One guy from Show Low warned us about the local Apaches – he told us they still want to torture you for 3 days before they kill you. Worse - they run you down in Wal-Mart if you're in their aisle.

Luckily, any day on vacation is a great day.

D&S