

Sent:
Subject:

Wednesday, September 10, 2008 7:00 PM
Postcard

El Tovar Hotel was built in 1905. It had steam generated electricity, greenhouses for fresh vegetables, a dairy, and railroad tank cars that brought in fresh water. Sometimes when you're in your room you think it's 1905. Like when you go in the bathroom. Still, it has one big thing going for it: it's on the rim.

That means if you want to, you can get up at 5:30, walk outside and watch the sun come up.

We wanted to.

D&S