Got up. Opened the drapes. Closed the drapes. Had two extra cups.

Got worse. Went souvenir shopping in town. In the rain.

Got worse. Went to a tourist trap outside of town. In the rain.

Honeyville sells all things made from honey and a lot of things that are not made from honey, like mustard. And buffalo summer sausage. They sell wine made from honey and you get free tastes. Looked like a bad business strategy based on the faces of the customers who were doing the tasting. The staff should just lie and promise that when you get back to Cleveland the stuff will taste fantastic.

The honey bottling line wasn't bottling.

Got more worse. Went back into Durango souvenir shopping. In the rain.
