We are still in Sedona, congratulating ourselves on being psychic, or protected by angels, after seeing "Visitor and Resource Protection" news from the Grand Canyon:

Grand Canyon National Park (AZ)
Body Discovered Near Tanner Beach

A ranger at the Mather Campground on the South Rim received a report of a hiker possibly in distress on the Tanner Trail. The backpackers who made the report told the ranger that they ran into a hiker and that he appeared to be exhausted. The pair, who were also feeling heat-stressed, provided the hiker with additional water and told him to go with them down to the river. He refused. On their way to the river, the pair passed the man's abandoned pack.

The next day, on their return journey, they again passed the abandoned pack, took note of the permit information, and looked for the distressed hiker. They were carrying an extra gallon of water in case they ran into him again. They finished their backpacking trip without again seeing him. Concerned for his welfare, they reported their encounter with the hiker as soon as they returned to the rim.

Rangers called for the park's helicopter. Late in the morning, the helicopter's crew reported spotting a body in a wash just above Tanner Beach. Rangers who arrived at the scene confirmed that the body matched the description of the hiker that the backpackers encountered. The body was prepared for transport then flown to the South Rim for transfer to the Coconino County medical examiner. High temperatures over the period ranged from 103 to 108 degrees at the Colorado River.

Are we psychic? Are angels protecting us? Good gosh, we're here in Sedona, let's see!

We went to the little shop operated by Angel Lightfeather, she of Oprah, NY Times and Good Morning America renown, to find out. So we had our auras photographed.

Her minor goddess Jade – Jade looks a lot like Angel except take off 20 years and add enough tattoos to, one imagines, cover the torso – guided us through the process and gave us the interpretations. One at a time we were seated in a chair that had big blocks at armrest height. On the each block were metal electrodes in the shapes of fingers, thumb and palm. We were covered to the neck with a black sheet (a little off the sides please and trim the sideburns) and faced a Wizard of Oz sort of box camera, with our hands on the electrodes. The picture taking went quickly and the picture was a By-God Polaroid®. Three minutes later we saw our auras.

Aura #1

This is a very colorful aura, and Jade has seen many.

Angels above in white – see 3 or 4 white orbs.

An angel to the right in the yellow (Jade said it showed bubbles, or separations) (so it's hard to see... hey, this is a photo of a Polaroid®, OK?).

Very spiritual. Intuitive, strong psychic tendency, seen in the magenta streak.

Filled with happiness (yellow, red) – kept close inside and not as outward.

Has dealt with changes in the present/recent past (green is to the left).

Strength to handle change and to heal.

Good communication because of top blue.

Creative.

Aura #2:

Major angel is seen above & behind the subject. Hi mom.

An outward manifestation of happiness (upper yellow).

Strong psychic tendencies.

Strong spiritual nature.

Surrounded by change (green left and right).

No internal color, Jade says it has been blocked. (We surely don't want to know why or by what.)

The inescapable conclusion: We are both psychic and protected by angels!

Stand back, non-believers!
