Got here!

Of course it sure wasn't easy. The cooler plug wasn't fastened and a lot of the back seat was soaked. Haven't done that in a few years! The water seeped into the cardboard file boxes that hold our lunch, our drinks, our coffee maker, soaked the towels that cover the back seat, got our jackets wet, etc. etc. etc. We went to Staples (Sedona has a Staples!) and bought some new file boxes. We were helped by their jerk of the month employee but got what we wanted anyhow. In the parking lot we repacked some things and spread other things out to dry in the back of the car.

By the time we got to GC it was lunchtime. We spread the wet stuff out (now mostly towels and upholstery, please note that upholstery is very difficult to spread) and had our now famous roadside lunch.

Watching soaked towels dry is somewhere below watching grass grow on the excitement list. Sheila had her camera out and took pictures around the picnic area.

Harry stop here.

“We pose for food”

Of course we don't feed 'em.
A hike tomorrow.
